When you're in deep water it's a good idea to keep your mouth shut

Beginning September 1, you aren't going to have to think as much about how you'll get to your downtown destination and make connections to other points in the city. We've simplified things by providing extra service and new, revised and renamed bus routes with new connections. The result should be a greater opportunity to get to your destination sooner. Now you can concentrate on thinking about the more important things in life.
