

TRANSIT OPERATOR SPOTLIGHT

B.K. Singh: actor!

We profile the operations staff who make your transit system go!

B.K. Singh has been a transit operator since 1990 with BC Transit and now Coast Mountain Bus Company. But he's also a film, TV and stage actor!

B.K. Singh, transit operator and famous actor!

How long have you been acting?

I've been acting since I was in high school. It was in 1974 that I turned professional.

What is it about acting that interests you?

It is my passion! I enjoy it. I love it! I really enjoy the stage and have been able to work with famous directors. If I could make enough money acting, I wouldn't have another job.

What productions have you been in?

I have had many lead roles in Punjabi (I'm sort of famous) and many supporting roles in English.

I played the lead in 40 episodes of a TV sitcom comedy: Your and Me World (or Teri Meri Dunia) aired on Shaw in 2001. In the Vancouver stage production of Bollywood Wedding I played the father of the groom for six shows. It was very successful. The show was sold out within hours.

I appeared in an episode of Psych, which aired in September, and in a non-speaking role in the movie 2012 which hit the theatres on Friday, November 13. There is a scene, set in India, where I am walking up a mountain - you can very clearly see it is me!

Thanks B.K. - break a leg! You can see B.K.'s acting portfolio at www.bksingh.weebly.com. And in his role as operator, you can see him driving routes in Vancouver. B.K. also provides support as a "defuser," helping fellow operators in high stress times, like witnessing or being involved in a major accident.
